Paul Hellyer, who oversaw the Canadian defense forces in the 1960s, has come out and said that the illuminati is a real entity and is controlling the world - making him the highest ranking government official worldwide to do so.

Hellyer told the Lazarus Effect podcast he believes the world's elite has the technology to reverse the effects of climate change, but is holding back from the public. When asked why, Hellyer said that the Illuminati wanted to help the petroleum industry.

The Illuminati are a group that conspiracy theorists assert controls the world's affairs and economy, and its members come from the worlds of politics, business and entertainment.

According to Hellyer, many members of the Illuminati have stakes in how well the oil industry performs financially.

'You have a got secret cabal that's actually running the world and they've managed to keep this technology under wraps until they can cash in the trillions of oil assets that they've got,' Hellyer said.

'And it's not going to change until hundreds of thousands of people band together and say look "you've got to come clean, tell us what is going on, and change your priorities to save the world for further generations instead of blowing it on wars."

Hellyer is known for making some rather outrageous claims - in the past, he's said the United States intervened to take over an alien crash site in the Canadian province of Manitoba. These aliens are the source of the anti-climate change technology, claims Hellyer.

He also says in the podcast that in the eyes of these alien life forms, humans are primitive life forms, and that these aliens could help humans in times of need in the future.

'Certainly they are more advanced in agriculture and medicine and many other areas and if that's true why aren't we cooperating with them to build a better world?'

Of course there are aliens out there; we would be very naive to think we are alone, given the number of exoplanets that have been found circling other stars, there are probably billions of inhabitable worlds. There are many intelligent species in the universe. All are owned by cats.

Not sure about the technology but he is spot on about the cabal, you only have to look at boards, trustees and leading foundations in partnership with the UN and EU to know who they are.

Where did Verbiere's comments go? I finally figured out why he keeps putting down Canada and Canadians. He's French and I have been known to agitate him, you know, because he's French. I should tell him that where I live picking on each other is a national sport. The French say we Anglos are not civilized and we call them cowards. But unlike him I have self esteem so he's got to be really good to insult me. Whereas I find it easy to insult French people because they get so
