Mexico's most famous UFO expert believes a photo of a sunset over a stadium near the US-Mexico border shows a flying saucer.

The snap was taken by a fan as the sun set over FC Juarez's soccer stadium. The team tweeted the image this week, tagging ufologist Jaime Maussan.

UFOs.

“I believe it is a ship of non-human origin,” ufologist Jaime Maussan said Wednesday.

“I believe it is a ship of non-human origin,” the authority responded on Twitter on Wednesday.

The photograph shows Estadio Olimpico Benito Juárez — just two miles away from El Paso, Texas — on Saturday during a match against a team from Tijuana.

Jaime Maussan is a Mexican journalist and produces a show about aliens.

After being processed with AI, Maussan said there is clearly a round, doomed ship in the sky.

Even more startling, the ufologist claims there's a force field visible around it.

The soccer club has invited Maussan to the border city so he can inspect the phenomenon in person, the team joked on social media.

This object lacks the symmetry required by a 'saucer'. Looks like it has been inflated with helium.

So, for those of you who don't know,

If the globalists can't get us into a nuclear war,

They might try and psy op an alien invasion using CGI tech.

Yes, they will try to sell an attack of space beings.

Remember, it's fake.

Keep alcohol in the house.

Whatever it is, you don't want to do it sober.
